| Project Title | Environmental and Scientific News and Media |
| Project Summary | Compile digital daily news clips covering a range of topics including oceans, climate change, water, science, conservation, and health. News clips come from a variety of international and domestic media sources. |
| Country | United States |

Project Description

The VSFS eIntern will be responsible for performing a daily comprehensive news search and compiling news clips for the Bureau of Oceans and International Environmental and Scientific Affairs. The eIntern will search a wide variety of online new sources for stories and subjects relevant to our mission. The clips have an international and national focus and are used to inform hundreds of Department of State employees, including the OES Principal Deputy Assistant Secretary and other senior officials, of the latest environmental and scientific news. Clips will be compiled daily except on weekends and Federal holidays.
